

You already have client. What else can you sell them?

Turn the next operational problem you see inside and existing customer into a new AI-enabled feature, workflow or managed service.

We provide execution layer behind the offer,
so you can focus on your customer

 Agentruntime x You

agentruntime.io

THE OPPORTUNITY

You already solved the hardest part.

You already have customer relationship,
you know the customer’s domain,
You know what sits just outside what you sell today.

The opportunity isn't to sell customers "AI."
It's to take the next piece of work they struggle with and package it as something they can buy from you.

TODAY YOU SELL	YOU COULD ALSO SELL
SaaS	New paid features, add-ons, AI
Client projects	Expand what you sell, then reuse it across clients
AI Agents	Connect your agents to more systems and expand capability
Software	Add technology and Package what you already do into repeatable services

A simple test:

If customers ask "Can your system also do this?", "Can you keep running this for us?" or "Can the agent actually finish this?", there may already be an upsell sitting inside the account.

WHO THIS IS FOR

Seven partner types.

One shared advantage: an existing client relationship.

PARTNER TYPE	ALREADY HAVE	CAN UPSELL
Vertical SaaS / software	Product, users, APIs, domain data.	Premium workflow modules, AI operations, managed automation.
Software / AI / automation agencies	Clients, developers, process knowledge.	Managed workflows, recurring retainers, reusable client solutions.
ERP / CRM implementers	Installed customer base and system access.	Workflow extensions, AI process packs, ongoing automation.
MSPs / IT service providers	Long-term contracts, infrastructure access, trust.	Managed AI & automation as another monthly service.
AI agent / assistant providers	Chat, voice, WhatsApp or domain agents.	Agents that own and complete the underlying process.
BPO / outsourced operations	Processes, teams, SLAs and client contracts.	AI-assisted service tiers, faster turnaround, broader scope.
Industry consultants / specialists	Expertise, methodology and client trust.	Productized workflows and continuous managed services.

The common question:

What work is happening around what you already sell that your customer would rather pay someone to handle?

PRODUCT EXPANSION

1. Add the capability your customers keep asking for.

For SaaS and software companies, the new offer can live inside the product they already sell.

“Can the system also handle this process?”

Example: a logistics SaaS already manages orders and vehicles. Customers still have people checking delays, messaging drivers, escalating exceptions and updating customers.

AGENT-TO-EXECUTION

2. Your agent can talk. Now let it finish the job.

An AI provider may already have a good voice, WhatsApp, chatbot or copilot experience. The upsell begins when a customer asks the agent to do something that continues beyond the conversation.

3. Turn one-off delivery into something you operate every month.

For agencies, ERP/CRM implementers and MSPs, the opportunity is often recurring service revenue around work they already understand.

AGENCY	ERP / CRM PARTNER	MSP
From automation project to managed workflow	Extend the system without rebuilding	Add "Managed AI & Automation"
Build the workflow, then monitor, operate and improve it instead of leaving the customer with a pile of scripts.	Keep ERP/CRM as the system of record while automating work that crosses email, documents, suppliers, approvals and other tools.	Identify, deploy and operate useful workflows for clients already paying for IT, cloud, security or support.
Sell: setup + monthly workflow operations.	Sell: process extension packs.	Sell: another recurring service line.

A procurement process is a good example.

The ERP may hold the purchase request and purchase order. But the real work can include collecting quotations, chasing missing information, comparing responses, obtaining approval and following up on delivery.

Commercial shift: from “we customized your system” to “we run this workflow for you.”

WHERE AGENTRUNTIME FITS

You keep the customer-facing value. We provide the execution layer underneath.

AgentRuntime doesn't replace your product, your agent, your ERP, your service team or your customer relationship.

WHAT YOU ALREADY HAVE

Your product, brand, client relationship, domain expertise, existing systems

AGENTRUNTIME EXECUTION LAYER

Run the work that crosses AI, tools, people and time

Workflow orchestration

AI Agents

Integration

Long-running

Retries

Failure recovery

Observability

Customer isolation

Human approvals

WHAT YOUR CUSTOMER BUYS

A new module managed workflow operational agent AI-assisted service continuous specialist service

Build the customer experience. Keep the customer relationship.
Let the runtime handle the machinery.

This is especially useful when a workflow has to wait, retry, react to external events, involve a human, call several systems, or keep running after the original AI conversation ends.

START SMALL

Start with one client.

Find one workflow worth selling.

You don't need to redesign the customer's whole business. Look for a process close to what you already provide

A good first workflow usually:

- ✓ Repeats often
- ✓ Has several steps or hand-offs
- ✓ Needs someone to keep track of what happens next
- ✓ Includes waiting, exceptions, approvals or follow-up
- ✓ Solves something the customer would pay to have handled

We're working with a small number of design partners.

If you have a client workflow in mind, we'll work through it with you the systems involved, decision points, approvals, exceptions and hand-offs and shape it into something you can deliver repeatedly across clients.

Bring us one workflow your customer still handles manually or inconsistently.

Thimira Nirmal, Founder
thimira@agentruntime.io